JetStream Federal Credit Union Hosts Barbara Goleman High School Students

February 2, 2010 - JetStream Federal Credit Union hosted students from Barbara Goleman High School for Groundhog Job Shadow Day. The students toured the credit union and learned about the role that each department plays in the success of the credit union. They also heard from several senior managers who discussed such issues as interest rates, loan calculations, savings, 401k plans, IT security, and the importance of maintaining good credit. "Students witness the work environment firsthand, the job skills in practice, and potential career options", said CEO Jeanne Kucey, "They were very involved and asked excellent questions". All participants received a Credit Union Basics Certificate. JetStream wishes these students much success in both their careers and their financial goals!
